

Background: CIA agent, recently developed AI (with purpose similar to POI's "The Machine") that checks peoples' data to calculate threat to country. It's just been put into use.

① Beginning

One person detected

↓ deeper analysis

② Detection becomes neutral

↓ investigate deeper

④ receives message from suspect
(suspect is hacker group trying to stop an ultra-surveillance plan by the government, says threatening things)

↓ keep secret

⑥ Arrange a discreet meeting at a place

↓ go there in secret

ignore →

③ co-worker investigates
co-worker receives same message as ④, and makes it known to everyone

stop ↗

report →

⑤ Organize squad to catch the group
(location of suspect determined by CIA)

⑦ Organize squad to catch the person at the meeting bench

report ↗

⑧ Listens to the detailed story about the ultra-surveillance plan. Receive text message from CIA saying you're being targeted by the AI

turn in USB ↗

plug in USB →

Ending #1

⑨ Capture is successful. Police force find "proof" of "plans to thwart government". First case of successful usage of AI. Years pass, AI has been even more successful than before. Celebration

Ending #2

Capture is unsuccessful. Later receive an email saying "Thanks, you have helped humanity". Case never gets solved, but you move on.

Ending #3

You are captured but able to prove innocence. You keep on working at CIA and hope some other people deal with the surveillance controversy.

Ending #4

You execute the program on CIA's network as SWAT comes to catch you. Door opens as you see script execution completes.